WORLD PRIDE: 5/00/0// A MEMBERS PERSPECTIVE

Country Network Member Carl Milton brings us a unique local perspective of World Pride.

Sydney is my home town. It is where I was born 60 years ago and it is where I currently live. I haven't always resided in Sydney, having lived big chapters of my life in other cities, other countries and in different parts of rural Australia. Like all big global cities, Sydney has become a bit generic and has lost some of its quintessential Sydney-ness. Despite this, it still remains high on most people's list as a city where they would most like to live in the world.

When Sydney was chosen to host 2023 World Pride in conjunction with the Mardi Gras Festival it necessitated a date change from the tradition of being held mid-year during the northern hemisphere summer. It will be the first time World Pride has been hosted down in the southern hemisphere. As I don't have a crystal ball, I can't predict how the 2023 Sydney World Pride event will unfold. We are living in a decade of disruption with a lot of uncertainty about the various changes and transitions that are happening in the world on many levels.

The clock is now ticking toward the launch of 2023 Sydney Pride/Mardi Gras and action is underway to try and revitalize Oxford Street, which was once the thriving mecca of Sydney gay life. Sadly, the nightlife of this once world-renowned gay ghetto was been whittled away by lock out laws, gentrification, Covid ramifications and by online activities, as well as social media replacing personal face to face interactions. There are however, plans to reopen former gay venues such as ARQ and Bodyline and it is likely that some new venues will be emerging along Oxford Street to cash in on the anticipated pink dollar spending. Inner-city areas such as Newtown and Erskineville also offer a few gay establishments and maintain a strong and visible gay presence.

Beyond the 'gay' milieu, Sydney has so much to offer – museums, art galleries, etc. as well as the pulse and buzz of big city life. Also, the stunning landscapes of the Blue Mountains are worth a big day trip and Sydney's iconic beaches such as Manly and Bondi are relatively easy locations to visit.

With 300 plus events listed for Pride, it is too onerous to list individual events and venues. It is best to research online at the World Pride site, or obtain a free hard copy of the events listings in order to find the events of that speak to your individual interests. It can be wise if CN Members are visiting Sydney to have done a bit of preparation in regard to public transport usage (an Opal card, or tappable credit card is required). Also, be sure to pre-check things like toll roads charges in order to avoid the unwelcome surprise of unforeseen expenses

It will be the first time world Pride has been hosted in the southern hemisphere!

"...the experience you have will depend largely on the energy and the attitude that you yourself bring along to Pride"

Some may lament that the 2023 Pride/Mardi Gras is shaping up to have become too sanitized, commercialized, corporatized and monetised. The days of Sydney being a feisty wild party town are no longer so evident. CTV cameras are now everywhere. Social media and a woke and wellness cancel culture has largely seen overt discrimination and gay bashings become a thing of the past. Gone too, are the days of numerous AIDS deaths in Sydney.

At the time of writing, (early Jan 2023) the Monkeypox virus in Sydney has been largely contained with minimal transmissions. Gay men in Sydney have had fairly easy access to being able to be vaccinated. Although, it is no longer looming large on the media radar, Covid is still very much doing the rounds in Sydney. Even despite one having been vaccinated and having previously caught Covid, it is possible to be reinfected a 2nd and even a 3rd time! In regard to Covid, individual caution, personal responsibility and safeguards are required.

On a positive note, the strong La Nina weather system of the past few years is forecast to be coming to an end. No one wants it to rain on their parade. There are so many wonderful things to celebrate in term of LGBT progress. When I was a teenager, options such as gay marriage seemed totally unconceivable. It is important that we ensure that hard-fought for LGBT human rights like marriage equality aren't diminished in any way.

If, as a CN member you are planning on heading to Sydney to attend World Pride, the experience you have will depend largely on the energy and the attitude that you yourself bring along to Pride. Beyond the self-seeking of one's own personal pleasures and experiences, events like Pride can be a beacon of hope to oppressed and vilified LGBTQ people living in different countries. It is worthwhile remembering that in some parts of the world celebrations like Pride would not be tolerated, and even being involved in an event like Pride event could result in violence and even death. In some ways by attending Pride, being visible, celebrating life and having a voice one can radiate hope and acceptance to others.

Life is short. Enjoy.

QUEER CONTEMPORARY: BRAVING TIME

Braving time is a queer exhibition that celebrates the work of artists who identify as part of the Australian LGBTIQA+ community. This significant exhibition has been curated by Richard Perram OAM for the National Art School in celebration of Sydney WorldPride in 2023. The artists represented in the exhibition celebrate the diverse voices of LGBTIQA+ people in contemporary Australia society, reflecting the breath of genders and sexualities within the community, including artists who identify as lesbian, gay, transgender, inter-sex, asexual and non-binary.

The artists present artworks that explore queerness in ways that are direct and indirect through historical and contemporary artworks that are critical, experimental and political, connecting to our contemporary culture. Together these works instigate conversations about queer experience; what it is and what it means to be queer in Australia today.

The key themes and connections that flow and overlap through this exhibition are rich and complex and represent issues that have been and remain central, to LGBTQIA+ lived experience including Our Queer Ancestors, Queer Worthies, Death and History, Feminist Expression, Family and Community, Maleness and Power, Humour, Gender and Sexuality.

Surf Coast Victoria THE TWELVE APOSTLES

What you need to know!

Best time to visit:

All year round! Each season shows off these beautiful natural wonders in their own way.

Getting there:

The 12 Apostles are accessible from Melbourne via the Great Ocean Road (4.25 hrs) and via the Princes Hwy (3.25 hrs).

Which ever way you arrive remember the 12 Apostles is just one area in what is one of Australia's most spectacular coastal National Parks.

The Twelve Apostles is a group of rocks found on Victoria's Shipwreck Coast. A beautiful end to the stunning Great Ocean Road Drive.

The Twelve Apostles is a group of rock stacks in the Southern Ocean off the shore of Port Campbell National Park, by the Great Ocean Road in Victoria, Australia. The rock stacks are made of Port Campbell Limestone, which was deposited some 15 to 5 million years ago. The extreme Southern Ocean weather eroded the soft limestone and thus shaped the stacks over millions of years.

There are 7, not 12 stacks

Despite the name, there were never 12 rock stacks. There were nine original rock formations. However, when officials renamed them 'The Twelve Apostles' there were only eight standing. In July 2005, a stack collapsed. Now, just seven stacks remain!

The original name was the Sow and Piglets

Until the 1960s, the rock stacks went by the Pinnacles and the Sow and Piglets. The Sow is Mutton Bird Island, which stands at the entrance to Loch Ard Gorge. The Piglets the many rock stacks dotted along the coast, including the Twelve Apostles.

There are other rock formations in the area

Also along this stretch of coast in Port Campbell National Park are other impressive rock formations, for instance, London Bridge, Thunder Cave, Razorback, Island Archway, Bakers Oven Rock, Sentinel Rocks, and the Grotto.

The Twelve Apostles are part of the Shipwreck Coast

Port Campbell National Park is also home to the Loch Ard Gorge. This gorge is named after the clipper ship Loch Ard which ran aground on nearby Muttonbird Island. You'll soon discover why this part of the Great Ocean Road is called the Shipwreck Coast. Stretching some 130km from Cape Otway to Port Fairy, there are approximately 638 known shipwrecks along Victoria's coast.

Ravenshoe

Far North Queensland

Ravenshoe

Pronounced; 'Ravens ho'.
Ravenshoe is on the Atherton Tableland in Far North
Queensland. It is located 123 kilometres (76 mi) south west of the regional centre, Cairns.

My Husband Geoffrey and I live at Ravenshoe on the southern end of the Atherton Tablelands, North Queensland. We'd love you to come and visit, we have a very comfortable home stay or a perfect grassy campsite for motorhomes or tents. Clothing optional. A small donation ($15-$30) to cover costs and meals would be appreciated.

Drop us a line to organise a stay in our piece of paradise.

□ neilbirch@bigpond.com

What I love about Ravenshoe...We would be able to show you around Ravenshoe as follows: Waterfalls, wind turbine farms, highest hotel in Queensland, Koombooloomba Dam, Tully Falls Gorge, Innot Hot Springs mineral spa, Railway Museum, pristine rainforests.

Where we wander... There are numerous National Parks in our surrounding area with walking tracks, picnic facilities and terrific places for a dip in the clear mountain creeks with pristine rainforests all around, perfect for a picnic. Not far from our Home is the Millaa Millaa Lookout giving outstanding views over the Valley to Millaa Millaa.

My favourite place to get a beer with friends is... Ravenshoe Hotel. A two story timber building dating back to early pioneering days. It has a lot of antique furniture and memorabilia, good food and cold beer. Rumours Cafe at Millaa Millaa is a good place to call in for a cuppa and a good meal.

If we want to escape from the world for a little while I go to...

The idea from escaping from the world to our favourite place mostly is wishful thinking for us. Occasionally it does happen and this is having the freedom of being nude on a beach, just over a 2 hour drive away. We are able to have our own piece of happiness, contentment & fulfilment every day on our lovely 6.5 acre property clothes free. Every day is different and every day is a blessing to us for what we have together. The clean fresh air 850–900 meters above sea level is amazing.

What's the Vibe? During the early pioneering days the town of Ravenshoe was a timber town, with huge areas of trees logged for timber. The facades of the shops in town reflect the pioneering days, and the township can become busy, with the next town approximately the same size of Ravenshoe west hundreds of kilometres away. We live a quiet life 9km out of town and do not have contact with other gay males in our area. We would love this to change though.

TOPFIVE tracks!

- ALUM CLIFFS. This delightful walk near the town of Mole Creek, holds a surprise. After a short climb, the track winds through forest before suddenly reaching a set of cliffs 200m above the Mersey River. There are stunning views from the lookout, as the Mersey River rushes through a narrow, cliff-lined gorge.
- APSLEY RIVER WATERHOLE AND GORGE. This walk starts as a gentle stroll through open woodland before reaching the surprising and lovely Apsley Waterhole. The beautifully tranquil pool in the Apsley River begs you to stop and gaze into its waters.
- of such amazing beauty and tranquillity was once the scene of hard, unrelenting convict labour. The peaceful site, overlooking the shallow waters of Ironstone Bay, is now largely in ruins. Parts of the penitentiary, underground cells, and mine shaft remain, while the history of coal mining and confinement are revealed via subtle interpretation signs.
- on this wonderful walk. Apart from being a great leg stretch for those driving the Lyell Highway between Derwent Bridge and Queenstown, this walk offers superb wilderness views.
- GRASS POINT. Located within South Bruny
  National Park, the walk to Grass Point is an easy track which offers spectacular coastal views and a peek at the ruins of an old whaling station.
  Suitable for family groups and less experienced walkers, the walk begins in beautiful Adventure Bay. Start by walking along the short beach next to the car park, before turning left onto the wellformed track.

MIDSUMMA FESTIVAL 21 JANUARY - 12 FEBRUARY 2023

Click on the guide above to view the complete

Midsumma Festival program

Midsumma is Victoria's premier queer arts and cultural organisation, bringing together a diverse mix of LGBTQIA+ artists, performers, communities and audiences.

Our primary event, Midsumma Festival, usually runs over 22 days in Melbourne's summer (January/February) each year with an explosion of queer events that centre around hidden and mainstream queer culture, involving local, interstate, and international artists.

Midsumma attracts broad attendances across broad age ranges and demographics; truly representing inclusion and diversity in all its forms. For this reason, we are ideally placed to make the many diverse queer communities in Victoria more visible and to provide a platform for creative voices and stories that are often not heard or seen otherwise in the broader community.

In 2021 Midsumma created a guide category specifically for older audiences. The category was established to encourage older audiences to participate in Midsumma Festival and to feel safe and connected to their local and broader communities. - Wye River Foreshore Great Ocean Road
  Wye River has a special vibe about it. most day trippers drive straight on through on their way to

Perth dog beaches!

- Quinns Rocks Dog Beach. Located on Ocean Drive, the Quinns Rocks Dog Beach provides calm, sheltered waters for your dog to splash in thanks to a set of natural offshore reefs. The beach is popular with owners of small dogs, as it's quite safe and rarely experiences hazardous or rocky conditions.
- Park and Dog Beach. The Hillarys Animal Exercise Park and Dog Beach is a large recreational area with plenty of space for your dog to run (or splash) around in. The beach has small waves and crystal-clear water all year round. You'll be able to let your dog off its lead on the beach, just make sure they're under supervision at all times.
- North Beach Dog Beach. Located a short stroll from the popular Flora Terrace café strip, the North Beach Dog Beach is one of Perth's smallest dog beaches at just 500 metres long. The water here is quite shallow and calm just be wary that you'll need to climb down a steep rocky section if you're accessing the beach from the end of Lawley Street (via the Flora Terrace strip).
- Peasholm Dog Beach, Floreat. Nestled between the popular Scarborough and Floreat beaches, Peasholm Dog Beach (also known as the Floreat Dog Beach) is a great spot for an early morning dip, when the waves are a little smaller.
- South City Beach. Much like its northern counterpart, South City Beach is a beautiful, long beach that is a favourite with families thanks to calm conditions and shallow waters. This is a particularly busy beach, so it's only recommended for dogs who are well-behaved around other dogs.
